THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Beautiful Exercises Carried Out by Sunday Schools of the City-The Attendances Were Large

Christmas exercises were beautifully carried out by the various Sunday schools in the city Sunday afternoon and evening. At some of the services the scholars received candies, flowers, etc., and in all their hears were filled with the even better things, the blessed spirit of Christmas.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the annual Christmas exercises of the Sunday school of Broadway Congregational church were held in the Sunday school children assembled in the Sunday school children assembled in the Sunday school room and marched in the church.

The programme follows:

Processional Hymn, Oh Come Let Us Adore Him; pdayer; anthem or carol; recitations, Our Gifts, by Primary department; We Love to Think of Jesus, Miss Helen Browning's class; What Does It Mean, by Miss Sauter's and Miss Alice Browning's classes; hymn, Thousand Years Have Come and Gene: report of secretary; offering: presentation of Bibles; scripture, read-filer many hearts might be made glad for Christmas day.

The entire service was carried out with delightful smoothness and the spirit that was aroused was worthy of the high ideals of an organization that not only studies God's word on Sunday lent discovers in that Book that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

The committee that made the arrangements for this year's program was as follows:

J. H. Ely, Mrs. Lucius Brown, Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wyman, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Bessie Grimes, and Miss Alice Dean.

Lessons of Time of Preparation Teach Value God Sets on Human Soul, Rev. Myles P. Galvin Proves.

Myles P. Galvin Proves.

The three weeks' season of preparation for the advent of Christ at Christmas ended with Sunday in the Catholic churches. At St. Patrick's the vestments and altar hangings were of penitential violet, but today will give way to the hues of jubilation and rejoicing, with the advent of the feast of the mativity.

At the high mass, Rev. Myles P. Galvin stated that a review and consideration of the gospels and lessons read in the masses during Advent go to prove the value which God sets on a human soul. This is demonstrated by the fact that the Second Person of the Blessed Trinity assumed man's nature and came to dwell upon earth, for man's rescue, santification and salvation.

Every Catholic knows and professes the value of the soul which God has created; but in practice too many seem created; but in practice too many seem to forget that value. Some men, carried away by ambition for honors, or place, or wealth, or pleasure, virtually say of their soul as did Judas, "What will you give me, and I will deliver it unto you?" But if those apparently successful men on earth, now suffering in hell, could be questioned, they would be ready to affirm that men make a poor bargain who barter the soul for the things of earth.

Wiser are they who can say with Blessed Peter, "Lord, we have left all things to follow Thee:" who, like Mary, have chosen the better part, or like the saints and martyrs prefer death to any bargain of the soul.

The Catholic church is teaching ever and always the text, "what doth it profit a men if he gain the whole The evening service at the First Baptist church was in charge of the Sunday school and was a service of Christmas Giving.
